Objective Review

When you step into The Local at 396 Roncesvalles Ave in Toronto, you're greeted by the cozy buzz of neighborhood chatter and the inviting aroma of comfort food done right. The The Local Menu reflects exactly what its name promises-local flavor, warmth, and a casual charm that makes you feel right at home. It's the kind of place where you can come for a pint, stay for the fries, and leave already planning your next visit.

Starting with the Starters, The Local sets the tone with simple yet satisfying bites that perfectly complement a good drink. The Basket of Hand-Cut Fries is a crowd favorite-crispy on the outside, soft on the inside, and generously portioned. If you're into a little sweetness, the Sweet Potato Fries with their golden crunch and creamy dipping sauce are a must. But the real star of the snack lineup is the Classic Poutine, a Canadian staple done beautifully here, with squeaky cheese curds and rich gravy draped over fries that hold their crispness to the last bite. For something a little more adventurous, the Bombay Poutine takes the classic up a notch with fragrant spices and bold flavors that wake up your palate. And, of course, the Onion Rings-crispy, golden, and just greasy enough-round out a lineup that's made to share but hard to part with.

Moving on to the Salads, The Local offers fresh, hearty options that go beyond the typical greens. The Mediterranean Quinoa Salad bursts with color and texture-think cherry tomatoes, cucumbers, olives, and feta tossed in a light vinaigrette that ties it all together. The Caesar Salad is everything you want it to be: crisp romaine, creamy dressing, shaved Parmesan, and those crunchy croutons that make it addictively good. And the Local House Salad brings balance to the menu, with its mix of seasonal greens and house-made dressing-a refreshing option alongside heavier mains.

The heart of the The Local Menu, though, lies in its Mains. The Local Burger is iconic: a juicy patty grilled to perfection, layered with fresh toppings, and served on a soft toasted bun. It's the kind of burger that drips flavor and feels like comfort in every bite. For plant-based diners, the Local Veggie Burger delivers a satisfying texture and smoky flavor that doesn't feel like a compromise. If you're after something with a twist, the Rue Burger stands out with its tangy sauce and melty cheese—a signature option that regulars swear by. The Chicken Tenders are crisp and golden, perfect for dunking into a range of sauces, while the Fish & Chips is a classic British favorite done Canadian-style—flaky fish encased in a light, crunchy batter, served with a side of tartar sauce and lemon.

Families will appreciate the Kids Menu, which keeps things simple and comforting. The Chicken Nuggets are crispy little bites of joy, and the Veggie Basket gives little ones a fun way to enjoy their greens. For something cheesy and comforting, the Grill Cheese with Fries is a guaranteed hit, while the Chicken Tenders with Fries keeps even the pickiest eaters happy.

What makes the The Local Menu truly special is how it brings together homestyle cooking with the friendly vibe of a neighborhood pub. Each dish feels familiar yet carefully made, from the crunch of the fries to the freshness of the salads and the hearty satisfaction of the burgers. Whether you're grabbing a quick lunch, bringing the kids for dinner, or settling in for a night out with friends, The Local makes every visit feel like you're dining among neighbors. It's more than a menu—it's a little slice of Toronto comfort served up with a smile.
